

LA FOLLETTE FORCES CONTROL CONVENTION

SENATOR THOUGHT TO BE DOMINATING IN STATE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM MEETING.

DEMOCRATS ARE SPLIT

Attitude on Income Tax Cause for Division—Bossard Republican Temporary Chairman—Karel Man for Democrats.

Madison, Sept. 17.—Owing to the press of business and other arrangements which he had made, Senator Otto Bossard of La Crosse, who had been slated by the supporters of Senator La Follette for chairman of the republican state central committee this forenoon, declined to permit his name to be used in connection with the chairmanship and his supporters then decided to center on Senator George E. Scott, of Barron county, for state chairman. Senator Bossard was unanimously elected temporary chairman and gave the keynote speech. Lawrence Conlin, Milwaukee, was elected secretary and George Skogono, St. Croix, assistant.

Harmony Reigned. Utmost harmony and good feeling marked the temporary organization of the republican platform convention today. Senator Otto Bossard of La Crosse, temporary chairman, made a ringing keynote speech after which arrangements were made for congressional caucuses to select candidates for the state central committee and the committee on resolutions.

Lauds La Follette. Temporary Chairman Bossard made a firm speech in which he defended the legislation of the progressives of Wisconsin during the past twelve years. He lauded Senator La Follette and continuing said that Wisconsin republicans would not be misled by other progressives entering the field nor would they follow in their footsteps, but would follow their old leader, Senator La Follette.

Karel Man Chairman. Frank B. Schutz, state chairman called the democratic convention to order in the Dane county circuit room at noon. Upon the motion of Harry W. Bolens the convention adjourned to the circuit court room. Otto F. Reessler, of Jefferson, a strong Karel man, was chosen temporary chairman upon the withdrawal of S. W. Randolph of the 6th district.

After the appointment of the committee the democratic convention recessed until 3 o'clock.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 17.—Of the four conventions which convene here at twelve o'clock today, the Democratic and the Republican gatherings promise sensational features. In each party—Democratic, Republican, Social Democratic and Prohibition—the respective gathering will be called to order by the chairman of the parties' State Central Committee. Committees will be appointed to draft a platform and pass upon the credentials, but aside from this little is expected until the platforms are submitted.

This afternoon, immediately following the adjournment of the different conventions, the delegates from each congressional district will meet to select two members to the state central committee from that district. It is not expected that the state chairman can be elected before Wednesday.

Democrats Are Split. The delegates to the Democratic convention are very much split up over the income tax. The Schmitz adherents believe they have a majority to adopt the recent Democratic platform promulgated at Milwaukee. They hope to prevent the adoption of a plank asking for the repeal of the present income tax and the inclusion of a plank asking for specific amendments for the income tax law. The Karel men here are avowedly opposed to this move. They will ask the election of Henry as state chairman in the place of Schultz.

In Republican circles political conditions are even more complicated. Senator La Follette is here and his followers have already begun to speak out boldly against the adoption of any plank favoring any presidential candidate. They claim that the last session of the legislature enacted a law permitting the separation of the national and state ballots.

To Endorse La Follette. This will be taken as a reason for endorsing no presidential candidate, but they will endorse the La Follette platform as presented to the Chicago convention. Senator La Follette intends to fight out his reforms within the Republican party. The Republican platform will also contain a plank commending the work of the recent fire insurance investigating committee which found that the rates on residences are altogether too high. It will call for legislation that will immediately reduce fire insurance rates. There will be a strong plank on conservation, and another plank detailing the reform needed to improve rural school conditions in Wisconsin.

Woman's Suffrage. A large question mark moves over the subject of woman suffrage. Two weeks ago it was assumed that the republican platform would declare in favor of woman suffrage. Some of the leaders here today, however, believe that it would be best for the party to point out the fact that this matter had been referred to a referendum vote of the people, and remain in silence, as to either commending or condemning it. The investigations are conducted by the state board of public affairs, showing how the expenses of this state may be curtailed will be endorsed in some form.

COLONEL IN HURRY TO SECURE REFORM

Says He Will Call Special Session of Congress at Once If He Is Elected This Fall.

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 17.—If Colonel Roosevelt is elected president, he will call a special session of Congress immediately after his inauguration to put into effect so far as can be done by Congress the progressive party's program for social, and industrial legislation. The program includes a minimum wage scale for women, a living wage, prohibition of child labor, regulation of the hours of labor and other measures.

"While there are many important points in the platform of the progressive party," he said, "I am most interested in the planks relating to human welfare. I believe that these are the great issue of this campaign and which neither of the old parties are facing squarely."

"The progressive party if it is put into power will carry out every promise which it has made in its platform. We regard the platform as a contract with the people—a contract to be kept to the letter. If I am elected president I shall call a special session of Congress immediately to take up these matters. It is of course true that the reform for which we call is largely subjects which must be dealt with by the legislatures of the various states, but there are certain matters which we can and will take up in Congress if the opportunity is given us."

"I would have Congress take up three things; first is the application of our program to employees of the government. Next is its application to the district of Columbia and Alaska. In the third place we would apply it to interstate commerce as far as would be possible."

Col. Roosevelt said it was difficult to define the length to which Congress could go in dealing with concerns engaged in interstate commerce through congressional action. He would attempt to put on the statute books he said as much legislation along these lines as could be applied to the railways and the usual concerns doing an interstate business.

FORESEES ELECTION OF GOV. EBERHART

With Three Progressive Republican Tickets in Field Present Executive Will Undoubtedly Be Re-Elected.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—The first state wide primary in Minnesota for the election of state officers, members of Congress and United States Senator is being held throughout this state today. There are four candidates for the republican nomination for governor and upon the outcome of today's contest will depend the conclusion of the progressives to place a third party ticket into the field according to Hugh T. Halbert, chairman of the progressive state central committee, in a statement given out this morning.

"There are three progressive republican candidates for governor," said Mr. Halbert, "with Governor Eberhart representing the united stand pattern vote and owing to the fact there is no legal existence of the progressives in this state and the law of Minnesota thousands of progressives will not vote this fall which would indicate that Governor Eberhart will be renominated."

"In that case the progressive will undoubtedly place a third party ticket in the field. If the other candidates are progressive they will not be opposed by the third party. Senator Nelson, in case he should be renominated, will not be opposed by the third party," said Mr. Halbert.

DENOUNCES THE HIGH PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Governor Marshall in Speech Says Tariff Gives Monopoly of Products and Free Trade on Labor.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 17.—High protective tariff was denounced by Governor Thomas R. Marshall, Democratic nominee for Vice President, in a speech here last night. He declared the policy "gave tariff beneficiaries a monopoly of products and free trade on labor." The governor said: "I have always been from the moral and constitutional viewpoints of the injustice of the high protective tariff. I have not wasted much time in studying its practical workings. Revelations, startling in their character, force themselves upon us, however. These revelations furnish economic reasons in abundance for a change."

"Take the argument that the high protective tariff has been maintained for the benefit of the American working man. What do the facts disclose? They disclose that we have given the tariff beneficiaries a monopoly on products and furnished them free trade in labor. "Figures compiled by the United States Immigration Commission reveal that three-fifths of the workers in our protected industries have come to the United States from southern and eastern Europe since the reason was advanced that we must have a high protective tariff for the benefit of the American working man. "Analysis of the figures reveals that the average wage per family has been $50 per month; that only forty per cent of the families are supported by the heads thereof; and that in the iron and steel industries one-tenth of the family earnings is made by the children, while one-fifth comes from boarders and lodgers. In seventeen thousand households examined there were two hundred forty-six persons for each one hundred sleeping rooms. The housing conditions challenge adequate description."

"An investigation of the twine plant at Auburn, New York, of the International Harvester Company, presided over by that disinterested patriot and philanthropist, George W. Perkins, revealed that women worked from ten to twelve hours each day, standing all the while in rooms the most unsanitary, and earned a dollar a day. Overworked and underfed, they are sapping out their lives and sapping the lives of posterity that the system may exist. If the farmers of this country are as patriotic and humane as I believe them to be, they will next year bind their harvests with rag garters, unless these conditions change."

"A word will suffice for the revelation of conditions at Lawrence, Mass., where wage-earners getting $7.00 a week were insulted by the advice to open up an account with a trust company. Such information as the government has been able to obtain by its tariff board shows that the labor cost of weaving a yard of cloth is five cents, while the tariff duty for the benefit of the laborer is $1.02. Who got the other 97 cents?"

"Governor Marshall then told of two Indiana implement concerns which he said had opened branches in Canada. He added: 'I have no definite knowledge why these industries opened up in the British domain, but I hazard a guess that the effect of the protective tariff on raw material and on trade relations with the world has convinced them that they can do more business and make more money while operating under the British Empire than under the American Government.'"

LAKE TAKES ELEVEN OF NAVAL RECRUITS

Eight Bodies of Drowned Youths Recovered at Waukegan While Three Are Still Missing.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 17.—The finding of three additional bodies of apprentices at the United States naval recruiting station which washed ashore near Fort Sheridan, Ill., on Monday brought the total known dead in Sunday's overturned sailing launch accident to eight. Three men are still missing and a search is being made along the shore for several miles for their bodies.

It was found that Chief Gunner's Mate W. Negus who was in charge of the boat and who felt responsibility for the accident saved two boys who were sinking in the lake and went back after another when he was drowned. His body washed ashore south of here. The bodies recovered on Monday were those of Fred F. Winkler, 4955 Bishop street, Chicago.

J. L. Lindsey, of Paxtonville, Ill. W. Negus, chief gunner's mate and experienced seaman, U. S. navy.

A board of inquest was ordered by Commandant Fullam of the training station, and testimony of each survivor of the twenty-four men who were in the sailing launch were taken. An order was asked by the commandant for a court of inquiry to be appointed by the secretary of the navy. Commandant Fullam said that he had learned that Negus had been asked by some of the boys to take them for a sail.

The gunner's mate did not ask permission of the officer of the day, he said, but manned the big launch and started out in a heavy sea. Of the three missing lads Commandant Fullam said there was little hope of finding them alive. It is possible, he said, that they managed to reach the shore and are being cared for in some house along the lake front. Their names will not be learned until the entire force at the station is mustered and the roll called.

At the inquest the jury, composed of naval officers, returned a verdict that the victims "came to their death while off duty as a result of the gale and the rough sea." The verdict did not fix the blame.

As showing that the company had competition, Mr. Funk declared there were from 3 to 75 firms manufacturing farm implements.

A Message to the Women of This City

This paper has long sought for the one best method of helping the women of this City. And to that end we have consulted the greatest Economists in America.

There are over 6000 families taking this paper today. Newspapers figure five readers to every subscriber, which means the remarkable total of over 30,000 people who must derive their news and their views from these pages.

Now how can we help you—all of you—to secure a still greater benefit for yourselves? You are scattered from one end of this City to the other. You are mingled in all of the various walks of life. Some of you are only concerned with the bare necessities; others only with the luxuries of life.

But not one of you, no matter who you may be, has actually enough money to release you from all desire.

Now what is the answer and what is the cure?

Business men will tell you that the answer lies in the "high cost of living." Economists will tell you it lies in the lowered buying power of money. But it makes no difference. The result is the same. We only know that we cannot buy any more today for a dollar than we could ten years ago for fifty cents.

And you, Mrs. Wage-Earner's Wife need not envy Mrs. Income. For she is having just as much trouble as you have. She gets more, but she needs more, and far more at that.

So let us not be concerned with the question but with the cure.

That cure lies entirely in the careful selection of merchandise that has a fair price, and in allowing the things upon which the producers have exacted exorbitant demands to rot in their factories. The merchants will all be with you in this. They hate these unnatural demands as much as you do. They are constantly advertising the best values they have in order to do away with this undesirable high cost. And if you will only give more attention to what they advertise, you will undoubtedly do away with your high cost.

When more women learn how to buy and to cook a rump steak, you bet the price of porterhouse will come down. When more women learn how to make a dollar worth a dollar, these fancy, swollen prices will melt like ice in the sun.

Help the merchants to help you. Read what they have to say to you every day. Pick the best that they offer. They want you to.

To read their advertising in this paper is the best message we can give to every home. For their advertising is the watch dog of your pocketbook.

BUELL GIVES TALK ON TOBACCO HABIT

Will Adopt Stringent Methods if Necessary to Discourage Use of Plant Among High School Boys.

Using an article written by Prof. O'Shea in regard to the evils of the tobacco habit among high school boys, and published in a recent issue of the Wisconsin University Bulletin, as a basis, Supt. H. C. Buell pointed out the dangers of smoking to the students at the high school this morning.

He read statistics which plainly indicated the harmful effect of the habit on young boys, both mentally and physically, and announced that stringent methods would be used here to discourage the habit should it become apparent that it was gaining a general foothold among the Janesville students.

Prof. Buell was inclined to think, however, that the habit was rather on the decline among high school boys at any rate, although Prof. O'Shea in his article insisted that the evil was rapidly spreading among boys of the high school age.

The Racine high school was cited as an example of how this habit was eradicated by the adoption of stringent measures. Prof. Laverne Brooks, superintendent of the school, formerly an instructor in the Janesville school, took the matter in hand and made a rule discharging the members of the football team who acquired this habit. Later in the season two members were suspended from the eleven for violating this requirement. The team protested, saying that that had always been the rule, but that it had never been enforced. They asked reinstatement, which was refused. The team sent a committee to Principal Brooks, with the proposition that if he would reinstate the two suspended members the whole squad would take the pledge for the remainder of the season. Their proposition was agreed to and the two members were reinstated.

Then it was announced that no one possessing this habit, could represent the school in any way. This prohibition covered all positions—class officers, cast in the seniors plays, editorial staff on their publication, position on any athletic teams, and representatives in oratory, debate or declamation. It went so far as to keep the class officers' names out of the commencement announcements. This movement may be tried in the local high school if it becomes necessary, and Prof. Buell is watching the experience of the other high schools in the state in this matter.

SCIENTIST CHURCH CORNER STONE LAID

Simple Ceremony Takes Place Early This Morning With Only Church Officers and Charter Members Present.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city laid the cornerstone of their new building on the corner of Pleasant and High streets this morning. The ceremony occurred between six and seven o'clock and was attended only by the church officers, charter members, building committee, and necessary workmen.
The exercises were simple and similar to those used at the laying of the cornerstone of the Mother Church in Boston. They were as follows:
Reading from Isaiah 28:16 and 17, and 1 Peter 2:1 to 6.
Reading from Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures, by Mrs. Eddy, corroborating and explaining the Bible texts.
Laying of the stone, by Mary Baker Eddy.
Prayer from the Church Manual.
Work on the building is progressing steadily. The foundations of cement and Bedford stone are now in and the brick work is under way. The basement partitions and supports for the main floor are laid. Only the best materials have been employed and the construction is being done with excellent workmanship under the able management of Mr. Deelhamm of Beloit.

FOUR KNIGHTS OF BACCHUS BROUGHT INTO CAPTIVITY

Three Admit Over-Indulgence in Flowing Bowl And Are Imprisoned—Connors Enters Denial.

Three Knights of Bacchus, the wine god, confessed over-much familiarity with the flowing bowl and were sentenced to terms of imprisonment in the county jail this morning by Judge Fifield. Henry Watson and Tom Connolly went down for six days each, not being able to present the court with the $2 and costs that could keep them out. Larry Ward, who was arrested at the St. Paul depot received an eight day sentence in default of a fine of $4 and costs. Tom Connors pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for four o'clock this afternoon. ## MUST NOT DEPOSIT RUBBISH IN RIVER

Ordinance Persistently Violated By Throwing Paper Boxes And Other Debris Into Stream.

Complaint has been made to the City Council that persistent violations are being made of the ordinance prohibiting the dumping of refuse in the river. Almost every morning paper boxes, waste paper, and other debris can be seen floating down the river below the Milwaukee street bridge, evidently being thrown out by the men who sweep the streets that border on it. The practice is plainly a violation of the city ordinance and should be discontinued at once. The text of the ordinance covering this point is as follows:

Sec. 2. Chap. XXVII.—No person shall place or deposit in said river (Rock) any earth, stone, ashes, paper boxes, brush, refuse, rubbish, or other substances whatsoever tending to pollute said river or to construct its flow or to render the same unsightly.

Sec. 5. Penalty.—Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit, and pay to the city, a penalty not exceeding $50, or less than $1 for each offense, and each day's continuance of any violation of the same shall constitute a separate offense.

The vice regal party will be welcomed at the station by a committee of provincial and city officials, headed by Lieut. Gov. Patterson. The distinguished visitors will remain in Vancouver until Sunday, and afterwards will visit New Westminster, Prince Rupert, Nanaimo, Victoria, Nelson and several other cities of British Columbia. October 6 is the date fixed for beginning the return journey to the East.

AGENT ALVA HEMMENS HAD ANKLES SPRAINED MONDAY.

Local Agent of Northwestern Road Met With Painful Accident at Freight Depot Yesterday.

Agent Alva Hemmens of the Northwestern railroad in this city, had the ankles of both legs badly sprained about ten o'clock yesterday morning, when they were pinched under a heavy box at the freight depot. A consignment of crackers was being unloaded at the freight depot when the storm came up yesterday, and in order to get the goods into the warehouse before the rain damaged the shipment, Mr. Hemmens started to help in unloading the car. As one of the large cracker trucks was being taken from the car onto the platform of the depot, it slipped and Mr. Hemmens' feet were pinched between the platform and the bottom of the truck. Dr. E. F. Wood was called and Mr. Hemmens was removed to his home. His injuries will probably lay him up or about a week.

UGH! HOW CHILDREN HATE CASTOR OIL

TO CLEAN THE LITTLE ONE'S STOMACH, LIVER AND WASTE CLOGGED BOWELS GIVE GENTLE "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the physic that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. The day of harsh physic is over. We don't force the liver and 30 feet of bowels now; we coax them. We have no dreaded after effects. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their little stomachs and tender bowels are injured by them.
If your child is fretful, peevish, half sick, stomach sour, breath feverish and its little system full of cold; has diarrhoea, sore throat, stomach-ache; doesn't eat or rest well—remember—look at the tongue, if coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, then don't worry, because you surely will have a well, smiling child in a few hours.

Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics simply cannot be harmful. It sweetens the stomach, makes the liver active and thoroughly cleanses the little one's wasted, clogged bowels. In a few hours all sour bile, undigested fermenting food and constipated waste matter gently moves on and out of the system without griping or nausea.

Directions for children of all ages, also for grown-ups, plainly printed on the package.

By all means get the genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. Accept nothing else.

MILWAUKEE COURSE OPEN TO SPEEDERS

World's Greatest Auto Drivers Begin Practice Today For Vanderbilt and Grand Prix Events.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—At 11 o'clock today the new Wauwatosa course opened which the Vanderbilt cup, Grand Prix, Pabst Blue Ribbon and Wisconsin Motor Challenge road races will be run this week and next. Formerly became the world's headquarters for speed. At that hour the route was turned over to the speeders and instantly they cut loose in the preliminary practice, restless from the restraint of several days while the finishing touches were being applied to the eight miles of speedway.

Excepting at the grand stand the course was barred absolutely to spectators. Admission to the grand stand was free and interest in the race program was attested by the large attendance. For the past week each day has witnessed the attendance of thousands at the course, even the last stages of construction work proving of great interest generally. The work at the pits attracts the guests. Always interesting, this feature of automobile racing probably is of greater magnitude during the preliminaries, as it is during that period that carburators and other important mechanical parts of the machines are adjusted to a nicely in readiness for the great tests of speed and endurance.

Practically all the speed fiends had arrived by Monday night. As early as Sunday several of them had taken their machines for inspection tours about the course. Ralph De Palma, the Mercedes driver and his brother John, who will drive a Mason in the light car events were among the first to take to the route, and both pronounced it fine. Bruce Brown, Bragg and others have complimented the management on the great improvements to the course during the past three or four days.

During the early preliminaries Bragg will try out a new carburetor on the same Fiat which he drove at Savannah. He has hopes that it will increase the speed powers of the big machine. Nearly every other driver is making experiments of similar nature.

Among the later arrivals are Erwin Bergdoll, winner of the Fairmont park race, with his big Benz, and Mort Roberts, who leads the Mason team.

Practically all the race camps are established, and they extend well along Burlington street and both Fond du Lac roads. There are special headquarters of that kind for every camp, and in some instances there are as many as four cars and a dozen men.

Several of the drivers, particularly Bragg, have expressed the opinion that the Wauwatosa track will be conducive to greater speed than the Santa Monica route, insisting that the Wauwatosa road surface is better adapted for tire endurance.

Query: Will Jeff Tesreau of the New York Giants prove the Babe Adams of the 1912 world's series? Remember Babe Adams. Three years ago this young man, almost an unknown quantity in the baseball world, plotted the Pittsburgh Pirates to the world's championship over the Detroit Tigers. Adams won the first game 4 to 1 over Mullin; the fifth 8 to 4 against Summers and Willett; the seventh 8 to 0 against Donovan and Mullin.

In those days Adams was about as new and young to the game as Tesreau is now. Older and better known Pirate twirlers were Camnitz, Leifield, Leever, Phillippe, Willis and Maddox. Today Tesreau is very young compared with Mathewson, Marquard, Ames, Wilse and Crandall, but he may be the hero of the world's series just the same.

Johany Dundee, who was bested by Johany Kilbane in their bout on September 4, is anxious to get another bout with the featherweight champion. He thinks he can lick Kilbane next time, and Scotty Monteth, Dundee's manager, is optimistic, too. Monteth says he stands ready to post a side bet of $1,000 on Dundee.

Friends having come to the rescue with financial assistance, Howard Drew, the sensational sprinter of Springfield, Mass., will attend Dartmouth college this year. Drew is poor, and although only in high school, is married and has children. He thinks with the start his friends have given him he will be able to work his way through college. In the meantime, he will be Dartmouth's main hope in the sprints in the college meets.

Negotiations have been started to negotiate the arrangement of a post-season series between the Cleveland

Naps and either the Pittsburgh or Cincinnati clubs in the National league. If played, the first game will be scheduled for October 8.

Matt Wells, the lightweight champion of England, and Freddie Welsh, former holder of the title, will meet in a twenty-round battle before the National Sporting club of London on the night of November 11. The bout will be for the lightweight championship and a side bet to which a purse of $5,000 will be added by the club. Welsh has repeatedly said that he was in poor health at the time that Wells gained the decision over him, and he has told his American friends that if given another opportunity he would reserve the former verdict.

Football fans are not worrying over the numerous and startling changes in the rules for the coming season. To them a football game will continue to be a football game and might be interesting so long as they allow tackling, line bucks, and runs, punts, drop kicking and other familiar features. Through everything is changed from the coach's viewpoint, when the teams line up for the kick-off and then a few seconds later for the scrimmage it will look like the same old game over and over again to the fan—the greatest college sport.

Knockout Brown, the famous New York lightweight, will box twelve rounds with Tommy Tract of Columbus at Cleveland on September 27. This will be Brown's first appearance in Cleveland, most of his bouts having taken place in New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Brown has fought no decision bouts with Pat Moore, Ad Wolgast and One-Round Hogan and has to his credit a knockout of Tommy Murphy.

PRACTICE IS HELD IN SPITE OF RAIN

Candidates For Various Positions on High School Eleven Given Light Tryouts Yesterday.

Signal practice was held last night by the local eleven despite the muddy condition of the grounds and the steady downpour of fall showers. Twenty moleskins ran through a fast practice, Coach Curtis selecting the team. Some scrimmage was held, although most of the time was given to light work. The candidates are: Line—Capt. Connell, Smiley and Bleasdale. Tackles—Mohr, Cummings, and O'Connors. Guards—Kuhlow, Dalton, Heller and Jones. Center—Cannon. Quarterback—Stewart. Fullbacks—Edler and Failer. Halfback—Ryan.

This lineup will undoubtedly be shifted each night to fit the right men to their best qualified positions. Practice will be held every night, as there are nine more practices before the first game, which will probably be with Stoughton on the 28th.

TY COBB, LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE, SEES BOSTON RED SOX TRIUMPHANT IN AMERICAN LEAGUE AND THEN WINNERS OF WORLD SERIES WITH NEW YORK GIANTS

Boston, Red Sox

Boston.—If Ty Cobb, the greatest player of the American League, looks into the future, he will see the Boston Red Sox triumphant in the American League and then winners of the World Series with the New York Giants. Cobb, who is now in the prime of his career, has been looking into the future for some time. He has seen the Red Sox win the American League pennant and the World Series. He has seen the Giants win the National League pennant and the World Series. He has seen the Red Sox and the Giants meet in the World Series and the Red Sox win. Cobb is a man of vision. He is a man who can see the future. He is a man who can see the triumph of the Boston Red Sox.

ually increasing their lead and held the astute Tiger from Detroit. It is the steady batting and through bearing the Athletics and the best of their other rivals. They did not gain any almost invincible lead at the start by fattening up on the weaker teams. "They are up on top now and playing the same old game. The Giants, on the other hand, seem to be slumping badly and have only just commenced what may prove to be an exhausting and disastrous trip. "To my mind the Giants are not a heavy hitting team. I have not seen them play this year, but am speaking of them as they appeared to me in the world's series last year. Myers was the only consistent hitter in the outfit then. He hit all the way through. Doyle finished up strongly and Herzog batted fairly. But Merkle, Murray, Snodgrass and Fletcher, from whom so much was expected, did not deliver the goods in my opinion. As a batting outfit it is my belief that the Boston team is unquestionably superior. Any one of Stahli's men is liable to start something at any time. "I look for Joe Wood to be the real sensation of the series if he sticks to his fast ball and puts his slow one in the refrigerator. The Giants cannot hit a speed pitcher and on the dark of the grounds Wood ought to stand the Giants on their heads with his tremendous smoke. But if I were Wood I should stick to my fast ball and curve. His slow one is too slow to be very effective. "Just how good New York's pitching staff is this year I cannot say. Marquard has been phenomenally successful, but he appears to be slipping some just now. Mathewson was easy for the Red Sox in 1909, and they should find him even easier now. "Ray Collins is a clever southpaw who has one swinging at his motion instead of at the ball. And I do not think that the Giants can bat successfully against a southpaw. "Boston will have four good pitchers, while the Giants, to my way of thinking, can show but two. O'Brien is apt to be a puzzle to McGraw's men. Redden has a splendid fast ball, and I repeat that the Giants do not like fast pitching. Hall also has great speed and should be held in reserve for 'rescue' work.

BOSTON'S TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Sept. 17.—Two hundred and eighty-two years old and a National or American league championship pennant, counting the flag already in sight of McAleer's team of Red Sox, for every twenty-two years of her career. This calculation by an enthusiastic baseball fan, and the hoisting of a flag on the city hall, marked the only observance of Boston's 282nd birthday anniversary today.

While it was in July, 1630, that the colonists brought by John Winthrop to Salem established themselves at Charlestown, it was not until September 17 of that year when the greater part of Winthrop's company moved to Trimontaine. Then the place was renamed Boston, after the Lincolnshire town from which many of the colonists had come.

PLATFORM DAY.

This is platform day at Madison, and the candidates of all political parties are assembled to comply with the provisions of a law which has no parallel as a fool proposition. The voters have nothing to say about the platform and parties are not consulted, but the responsibility is placed in the hands of candidates for state and legislative offices, and they produce any sort of a platform that suits their fancy.

With a United States senator at the head of the aggregation, who is practically without a party, and with a governor on the fence, undecided which way to jump, the platform, which is supposed to be a declaration of principles, promises to be a crazy-quilt of unique design.

The senator will not endorse the national administration, because he has a personal grievance against President Taft, and as Colonel Roosevelt stole his thunder, he can not be expected to endorse over the new party. While his Madison organ is supporting Wilson, it would hardly do for him to come out in the open for the democratic nominee.

This is the man who will make the platform today, which the republicans of the state are expected to endorse. If that isn't a farce, what is it?

Colonel Roosevelt no longer claims to be a republican, but the senator does. Where McGovern stands, the Lord only knows. About the only substantial political fixture about the state capital is the university, as the taxpayers have discovered at the expense of their pocketbooks.

Wisconsin is said to be the most progressive state in the union. If being boss-ridden and tax-burdened means progress, the state is certainly entitled to all the glory. The platform farce, which is being enacted today, is simply a side issue.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

Because the Gazette has taken occasion to criticize the city administration, the saloon men are quick to conclude that the paper—which they claim is responsible for the commission plan—is already tired of it. To set at rest any notion of this kind, which may prevail in any quarter, the Gazette will state a fact, which is apparent to any unprejudiced observer, that the city is better governed today, from a financial and business standpoint, than at any time in its history.

The work on the streets is intelligently handled and the taxpayers are assured that every dollar expended represents a dollar in value. This is true of every other department, and the people are so well satisfied that they would be slow to consider a proposition to return to the old system.

That some dissatisfaction should exist is to be expected, but this comes from an element that opposed the plan and did all they could to defeat it. The talk of a recall, which now and then comes to the surface, enanate from the same source, and is not worth considering. Janesville has a good commission and when we, the people, realize the importance of moral support, and are willing to come out in the open and be counted, there will be no trouble about law enforcement. The morals of any community are as good as the people will to have them. If the morals of Janesville are to be improved, it will be accomplished when we, the people, decide to improve by substantially backing the city officials by moral support.

NO PARTY IN THE STATE.

The republicans of Wisconsin are confronted with the fact that they are without a party in the state, and if they vote at all they will be compelled to support either the Bull Moose or democratic ticket. McGovern is hopelessly committed to Roosevelt, and has no claim on the republicans of the state.

The La Follette progressives are in the same boat as the conservative wing of the party, and while they may not vote the democratic ticket, the chances are that Judge Karel will be the next governor of the state.

This deplorable state of affairs is largely due to party disruption brought about through the workings of the primary law. If the republican party had not been put out of commission by the La Follette aggregation, there would be a state ticket which would command support.

When La Follette asked for a solid delegation to aid him in his ambition for the nomination for president, there was no opposition, but in his choice of delegates he had no right to select men who would betray him, as McGovern did. He has succeeded in placing his friends, as well as the republican party in the state, in an embarrassing position, and in a measure he is responsible for results.

If the final choice for governor is between McGovern and Karel, he is in no position to criticize, should the support go to Karel, as much of his success is due to the support of fair-minded democrats.

THE NATIONAL PARTY.

While the republicans of the state may be defrauded, on the state ticket, there is nothing uncertain about the national ticket and as time advances the atmosphere is clearing, despite the noise and din of the Bull Moose movement.

The campaign tour which the Colonel is now making through the west, has brought to the surface an enthusiastic crowd of followers composed of men who are captivated by the man, and who express their admiration by shouting, "We want Teddy!" This is very gratifying to the Bull Moose leader, while it doesn't mean very much to the great rank and file of the party who will be busy sawing wood until the fourth of November.

The republican party is a national organization and its great leaders never assumed to be greater than the party which honored them. Colonel Roosevelt enjoyed the distinction of having his name enrolled with a class of men whose memory lives with the nation, as a benediction, and had been satisfied to rest on his laurels his name would have passed to history untarnished.

He is the first of the select galaxy to forsake his party and attempt to wreck it to satisfy ambition. Treachery to his personal friend and to the party which honored him, is not commendable and the fact is slowly dawning upon the minds of the people that danger threatens the nation in placing the reins of government in the hands of such a man.

Loyalty to Taft is not considered, but loyalty to the republican party, with its splendid record of achievement, and the great principles it represents, is of supreme importance. More than the whims of ambition will be required to wreck the old party.

It may not be very consoling to our civic pride to have our vices hung out on the line for public inspection, and we may denounce the speaker who had the temerity to do it, but we all know that the conditions set forth are true, and the two hundred men who listened to him last Sunday, endorsed the speaker by voting to lend their moral support to correct the evils.

The attitude of law-breakers toward the city authorities, is much the same as the attitude of Mexico toward the United States government. We talk so much, and do so little, that the performance amounts to a game of bluff. There is only one way to enforce law and that is to enforce it through the combined effort of every department of city authority.

While the harvester trust is taking a day off to attend court, the threshing crews all over the land are working overtime with 700,000,000 bushels of wheat in sight and other cereals in proportion. The hum of machinery is more musical than the hum of the courts, and more profitable.

The young couple who married in Los Angeles the other day, under a free love contract which provides for separation by mutual consent, at any time, have set a new pace for reform, which would be called a little swift, even in Wisconsin.

The state twine binder plant at the Waupun prison is reported as ready for business, and another rathole is provided for the people's money.

Superstitious Italians.

Perhaps of all countries Italy is the most rife with superstition in all its strange and imaginative varieties. Italians believe in the "evil eye." They have a "false spirit," which is given to practical jokes on poor mortals, and a darker hobgoblin, the "Fata Morgana," who draws youth beneath the waves of the Straits of Messina to drown.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

Women.

(Contributed by an old bachelor.) There are only three kinds of women who like to be admired—the young, the old and middle aged.

I never yet saw a woman who knew how to use a hammer—excepting at the sewing circle.

A woman will spend 10 cents car fare to save 3 cents at a bargain sale and then buy three times as much as she needs.

No woman ever used rouge and baby talc and fooled anybody but herself.

No man can flirt with a woman who doesn't flirt back, and the girl that minds her own business is not insulted.

Any fluff-ruffles with a pair of eyes is bound to be spoiled. If I ever marry it will be some woman who knows how to keep house and who has about $3,000,000.

If more women would stop trying to catch some millionaire with a hard cough and would settle down and marry horny handed sons of toil, the future of this race would be more secure.

I don't understand women and neither does any other man, and trying to understand them is too expensive.

I never saw a simple country maiden who couldn't blunce a man who has been city broke for thirty years.

Percy:—Oh, yes, we can tell you the difference between a drowning sailor and a matinee idol. A drowning sailor is lashed to the mast and a matinee idol is lashed to the last. Keep still, Fido and eat your dog biscuit.

Lacratia—There is no better way than putting it in his coffee, but when you do it, don't look at him as though you were guilty of anything. The cure you mention is very good in the coffee. The last man we knew who took it unconsciously in his coffee, never drank a bit of whiskey again—or anything else. You can thereby get rid of your husband's breath and your husband at the same time, if you're careful.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

HAPPINESS A BYPRODUCT.

"How can I be happy?"

The question has been asked since the world began. Men and women have given up their lives to find happiness and were disappointed. They have tried to buy it, and no one has it for sale.

Strange! Almost anything else we want in this world we can win by trying. But we are so built we cannot get happiness that way.

Happiness is a byproduct of life. You know a byproduct is that which is left over from the manufacture of an article. It is not the chief thing. It is that which is produced on the side.

Thus in the smelting of zinc the byproduct is paint.

The chief business is the smelting of the ores into zinc. The paint is the byproduct.

So is happiness a byproduct. It is something that comes to you when you are not directly concerned in getting it.

Make happiness the chief business of your life and you will be miserable. You are trying to make the byproduct the chief thing.

Happiness comes this way:

If you are healthy and normal you should be busy. If that about which you are busy is congenial you enjoy your task. Thus there comes to you satisfaction—happiness. It is the byproduct of congenial labor.

Therefore—

The busiest people in the world are the happiest.

And conversely the idle people are the most miserable.

Note those who have nothing to do save to amuse themselves. Life becomes a bore. The greater effort they make to entertain themselves the greater their misery. They grow tired of themselves.

That is consoling to you.

You are busy, and sometimes you envy those who do nothing but seek pleasures. Envy not, but pity. They are slaves.

Only the worker is free. In the expression of the power that is in you through pleasant labors you find freedom and incidentally happiness.

Happiness is a byproduct.

One Hair's Breadth.

A "hair's breadth" is 17-10,000 of an inch. For the purpose of such fine and delicate measurement tool makers use what is called a micrometer caliper. The hair's breadth is something that has to be taken into consideration in the manufacture of a thousand and one things in the machine maker's art. Close calculation of this sort must be done on the doors of bank vaults, for example, where every part must fit to the nicest degree.—Harper's Weekly.

Caught on the Fly.

Reports say two hundred thousand insects are known and classified, but even this number does not include the party who smokes a cigarette in a telephone booth.

Doctor Abbott says Teddy Roosevelt drinks nothing but milk and water. But Teddy Roosevelt isn't that sort of a candidate by any means.

At any rate while people are swatting flies they have no time to send picture postcards. Swat the fly.

The brickbats are beginning to fly. They do say as how Tom Marshall, of Indiana, chews tobacco and Woodrow Wilson once voted for the Republicans.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler says there is now a period of readjustment due to the high cost of living, but it doesn't take a college president to discover that.

In the whole world there are only about 1,500,000 people. An inch of rain on our watershed normally would give two gallons of water for every man, woman and child on the surface of the earth. Put it another way: If every man, woman and child on the face of the earth should walk up to the lakes, reservoirs, etc., which hold New York city's water supply, and each pour in two gallons of water, it would not be enough to last that city ten days.

Plaintiff Alleges That Statements
Published During Campaign of 1910 Were False, Libelous and Defamatory.

Action has been started in the circuit court of Rock county by Wallace Ingalls of Racine against D. B. Worthington, T. C. Hendley and the Daily News Publishing company of Beloit for fifty thousand dollars damages, which the plaintiff claims are due him for the damage done his character and his reputation as a public official and attorney for false, libelous and defamatory statements alleged to have been published in the Beloit Daily News during the last congressional campaign, when the plaintiff was a candidate for the office of representative from this district in congress, running against Henry A. Cooper.

The summons and complaint in the case were filed today in the office of the clerk of the circuit court, and with the papers a stipulation that the case should be tried at the October term of the court.

D. B. Barnes of Delavan has been retained by the plaintiff as his attorney, and the firm of McKearney, Thompson & Myers of Racine has been engaged to represent the defendants.

The complaint cites facts regarding the plaintiff's admission to the bar, his service as district attorney of Walworth county, election to the legislature, and his work as a member of the special legislative committee to investigate the subject of industrial insurance. The facts regarding the alleged libelous statements are set forth in the complaint as follows:

"That on the 17th day of August, A. D. 1910, the defendants composed and published, in the Beloit Daily News, a newspaper printed and published at the city of Beloit, in the county of Rock and state of Wisconsin, the false, libelous and defamatory matter, (meaning and intending to charge thereby that original court records had been in some time in existence, and on file in the county court for Walworth county, which would show that the plaintiff was a disgrace to the bar of Wisconsin, and corrupt professionally, also meaning and intending to charge thereby that plaintiff had stolen and destroyed, or had guilty knowledge of the stealing and destruction of original court records of said county court, which, if in existence, would show plaintiff to be a disgrace to the bar of Wisconsin, and corrupt professionally, thereby charging and intending to charge plaintiff with destroying, or having guilty knowledge of the destruction of court records for plaintiff's individual advantage, contrary to the revised statutes of Section 4499b of the Wisconsin, which makes such offense a felony.)"

Here the complaint sets forth in full the statement made in the issue of the News referred to which are alleged to be libelous and defamatory to the plaintiff. Continuing the complaint says:

"That said newspaper on said date had a large circulation in and throughout the counties of Rock and Walworth, and other parts of southern Wisconsin; and that the issue of said newspaper, containing said false, libelous and defamatory publication, was widely circulated by the defendants in and throughout the southern part of Wisconsin, through the mails and otherwise, and, as plaintiff is informed and believes, was also widely circulated by the defendants in and throughout the counties of Rock, Green, LaFayette, Racine and Kenosha, in said state, by special messengers, under the direction of defendants, and that said false, libelous and defamatory matter of libelous and defamatory matter of libelous and defamatory matter, contained therein, was read by a great many people."

"That by reason of said false, libelous and defamatory publication, said plaintiff has suffered personal humiliation and disgrace, was injured in his professional reputation as a lawyer, and brought in public distrust as an official, to his damage in the sum of fifty thousand dollars."

"Wherefore, plaintiff demands judgment against said defendants in the sum of fifty thousand dollars damages, together with the costs and disbursements of this action."

Approve Nominations for Librarian

Committee—Accept

At its meeting in Library Hall yesterday afternoon the Library Board accepted the report of the Committee on Librarians, appointing Miss Gertrude Cobb, librarian, Miss Grace Estes, second assistant librarian, and Miss Isabel Smith an assistant to serve until Miss Cobb assumes charge. Miss Agnes Buckmaster was named first assistant at the last meeting of the board, and is temporarily occupying the position of librarian. Mr. H. C. Buell was directed to see if Miss Cobb could take up her work here on October 1. She now holds the position of assistant librarian in the Carnegie library at Madison.

The men's reading room will henceforth be utilized as the polling place for the Third Ward, the Library Board voting yesterday to permit its use for that purpose. This will be a more convenient location than the present booth near the corner of Racine and South Main streets.

The president of the board was empowered to sign a contract with the Janesville Electric Company for supplying current to the Cornithian lamp standard in front of the library, recently donated by Mrs. Stanley Smith. Mr. H. L. McNamara was directed to secure bids for the winter's coal supply. The Finance Committee audited a number of bills for current expenses which were duly allowed, and orders directed drawn for their payment.

Construction of the new plow factory for the Janesville Machine Company is progressing with great rapidity, and if unforeseen delays do not occur the building will be completed by October 5. N. A. Choate, Superintendent of Construction for Warden Allen, the contractors, has had forty or more men constantly at work ever since ground was broken on July 5. The glazing of the steel sash was started this afternoon, and men will begin to put on the roofing tomorrow. Steel sash have been put into all the windows except those on the street side. Wire-glass, a proved fire-resistant, is being used. The false work for the re-enforced concrete floor of the second story is all in place and the concrete will be poured as soon as a delayed shipment of cement arrives. Vitified brick will be used for the ground floor. The factory will be well lighted and airy. An elevator, 1788 feet in dimensions will be installed to convey material and finished tools from one floor to the other.

MAY SOFT PEDAL AUTOMATIC INSTRUMENTS IN SALOONS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Manitowoc, Sept. 17.—The automatic music boxes, pianos and other music in saloons of this city may be soft pedaled. The council last night heard complaints which were made against the operation of a piano in a saloon garden. The measure did not pass, however, being held up by the mayor because he feared that the necessary eleven votes would not be secured, there being only twelve members present. The proposed ordinance has stirred up a factional fight and promises to be taken up by the church people of this city.

Janesville Public Library Favored
By Captain Thomas L. Richardson—
More Will Be Added.

Through the generosity of Captain Thomas L. Richardson, brother of Marshall P. Richardson of this city, the Janesville Public Library has been given a loan collection of Filipino weapons, which was accepted by the Library Board at its meeting yesterday afternoon. The collection will probably be placed in the children's room.

Captain Richardson is a graduate of West Point. He saw service in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, and was stationed on the island of Mindanao during the Filipino insurrection. He was an officer in the Twenty-second U. S. Infantry, and after the battles and skirmishes with the natives took pains to make a collection of the native weapons that they left behind them.

Embraced in it are Moro and Igorote spears, bolos, daggers, kriszes, mandangs, battle axes, and two headdresses, and two headdresses. The specimens are rare and valuable and will be a substantial addition to the library museum. Captain Richardson, who is now stationed at El Paso, Texas, visited his brother here for some time this summer. He will soon make an addition to the collection now in the city.

PHYSICIAN ONCE CONVICTED MUST AGAIN ANSWER TO CHARGE

Dr. and Mrs. B. C. Hyde and their home at Kansas City.

Dr. B. C. Hyde of Kansas City, whose two former trials have aroused nation-wide interest, must again answer to the charge of murder on September 3. Dr. Hyde, it will be recalled was accused nearly three years ago of having murdered Col. Thomas H. Swope, millionaire philanthropist and uncle of his wife. Hyde was convicted on his first trial. The second was suddenly terminated when one of the jurors escaped and was at large for three days. Mrs. Hyde has staunchly defended her husband against the accusations, and has been a prominent figure at the former trials.

NEW YORK SYNDICATE BACKED BY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS PLANS
NEW CITY IN TEXAS TO RIVAL GALVESTON AND NEW ORLEANS

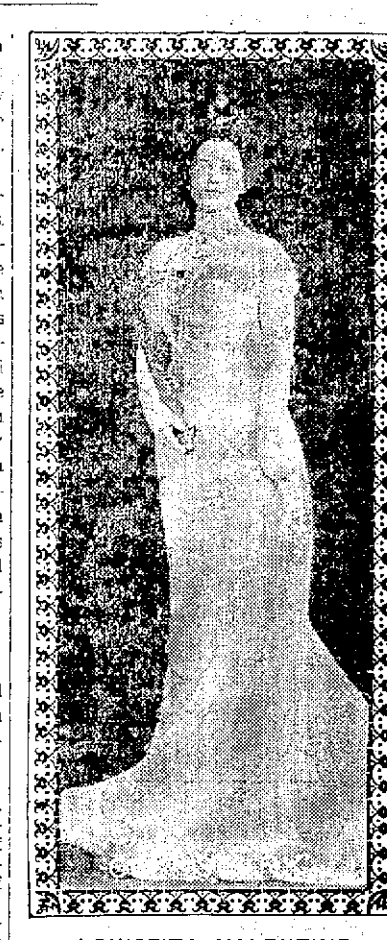

John Hays Hammond, map showing location of proposed new city in Texas, and Frank A. Vanderlip. A New York syndicate, backed by millions of dollars, and organized for the purpose of capturing the Panama canal trade, has purchased 15,000 acres at the mouth of the Brazos river in Texas, with the end in view of building a new city which will rival Galveston and New Orleans. Heading this project are Frank A. Vanderlip, John Hays Hammond, James Stillman, Samuel McRoberts, F. O. Brown, E. P. Swenson and S. A. Swenson of New York and John Williams & Son of Richmond. The Swenson brothers own one of the largest ranches in the world at Spur, in West Texas. The site of the new city is about 100 miles west of Galveston. There are large submer fields near by.

At The Theatre

MOLLY McINTYRE, who will be seen as Bunty in "Bunty Pulls the Strings," at Myers theatre, Tuesday, September 17.

"BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS," which has caused more favorable comment than any comedy produced in New York this season, will come to the Myers theatre on Tuesday, Sept. 17. This play was first produced in London last summer and scored an immediate success. In October last New Yorkers were given an opportunity to meet Bunty, and they were as enthusiastic as their English cousins. Now a special company has been organized to play the most important cities of the country and Janesville is fortunate in being one of the first on the list. Although Bunty is laughable and the comedy often goes to extremes, yet it is a true picture of the manners and customs of the Scotch people. Graham Moffat, the author, has handled his subject with great care, it is said, and has written one of the greatest comedy successes of the day.

"Mother" Mary Jones, who is one of the most widely known figures in the labor movement, is taking a prominent part in the coal miners' strike now going on in West Virginia. When ten thousand miners paraded in Charleston, she was at their head. "Mother" Jones has taken a lively interest in labor since she joined the Knights of Labor out in California many years ago. She is 76 years old, yet she takes an important part at the conventions of the miners. She goes to the mine disasters and has nursed hundreds of unfortunates. Her "boys," as she felt them, have felt her guiding spirit at big strikes and wherever the miners are engaged in conventions or strife.

Left to right: Crown Prince Nishinomiya, and his two brothers Tonomiya (the youngest of the trio) and Akihito. Emperor Yoshihito of Japan has three lusty young sons, the elder of whom, Nishinomiya, will himself be emperor some day, if he lives. Their grandfather, Mutsuhito, whose death occurred recently, never had his picture taken, but fortunately the present emperor has no prejudice against photographers, and we are permitted to see his children just as they are. The boys will receive the best kind of an education, in order that they may intelligently take up the cares of state when they arrive at maturity.

Many prominent speakers are taking part in the campaign. Among them are Miss Harriet Grim and Mrs. Ella S. Stewart of Illinois, and Mrs. R. M. LaFollette, wife of the Wisconsin senator, Rev. ## EDGERTON CITIZENS PRESENT LIGHTING PLANS TO COUNCIL

Proposals For Ornamental Street Lamps Referred to Committee Which Will Report at Meeting Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, Sept. 17.—At the meeting of the Edgerton common council held last evening a committee of citizens was present to lay before the council the plans for installing a new ornamental lighting system here.

A proposition was submitted which provided for fourteen new poles with three lamps to the pole to be placed on Front street and a pole on the south end of Swift and Henry streets. The cost of maintaining these lights, it was learned, would be about $750 in excess of the amount which is now being paid by the city for lighting facilities. This would make the total expense of lighting $2,500 for the city. Business men have already subscribed enough to install the new system and the committee last night urged its adoption by the council with the understanding that the city would stand for the increased cost of maintenance.

The matter was referred to a special committee of the council which will report at an adjourned meeting of the council tomorrow evening.

Other business which came before the meeting involved street work. The street committee was instructed to have that portion of new crosswalk at the intersection of Fulton and Catlin streets which has just been laid, taken up and the gutter line changed to conform to the gutter line on Fulton street.

The ordinary amount of bills were allowed and an ordinance was passed requiring transient photographers to take out licenses.

HUNGARIAN CONGRESS OPENS WITH RIOTS

Wild Outbreak Threatening to Become Free-for-all Fight Attends Sessions of Parliament.

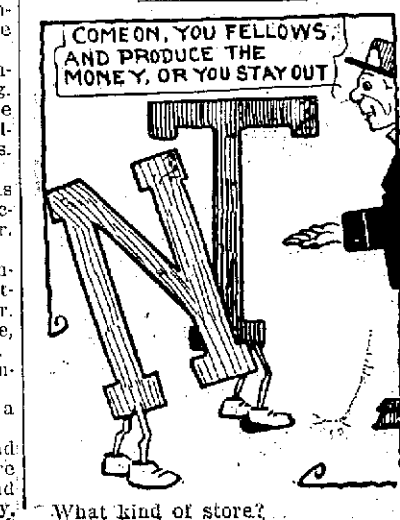

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 17.—The opening session of the Hungarian Parliament today was marked by a wild outbreak of factional feeling which only was prevented from becoming a free fight through the intervention of party leaders.

The outbreak began as soon as Count Stephen Tisza, the president of the lower house, entered the chamber. He was received with cries of derision and abuse mingled with hissing and snarling. Count Tisza regarded the outbreak with indifference but all his efforts to restore order were unavailing. His call for attention only caused additional disorder and renewed violence. Not a word could be heard in the chamber or in the press gallery above the organization. The royal decree opening the session was read without a word of it being heard and was followed by what looked likely to end in a free fight. An opposed member pointedly asked a deputy of the governmental party whether he had a revolver with him. This raised the tumult to fever heat and it looked as if members of chamber were coming to blows when Count Julius Andrassey and the other leaders intervened and separated the deputies so they could not reach each other but the tumult continued, however. Only a few spectators remained in the chamber and neither police nor military officials appeared although disorder had been anticipated.

Stormy scenes were also witnessed in the parliament at the closing session in June which culminated in an attempt being made to assassinate Count Tisza. The president of the chamber was shot at three times by an opposed deputy, Julius Kovacs, who then fired two bullets into his own body, wounding himself seriously. The count was unharmed. Count Tisza was elected speaker of the chamber on May 22nd last. He is an opponent of universal suffrage.

As in the democratic party, there will be a distinct fight over the central committee men from the different congressional districts. The belief seems to be growing here that the out-and-out La Follette men have entire control of the convention, and will be able to elect whom they please as a state chairman. Among the names that are now being considered as state chairman are Theodore Kronshage of Milwaukee; A. H. Dahl, Westby; Charles A. Ingram, Durand; Otto Bossard, La Crosse; C. E. Manthe, Fond du Lac; and E. T. Dineen of Baraboo. Manthe has a strong following, but a delegation from La Crosse are pressing the candidacy of Mr. Bossard. Bossard seems to be an unwilling candidate. His friends are assuring the delegates however, that he will accept if the honor is tendered him.

Two people are being talked of for secretary of the State Central Committee, Wm. Essman, Milwaukee and Assemblyman Thomas Mahon of Eland Junction. Mahon is a strong follower of Governor McGovern. There was little of great interest developing during the afternoon owing to the fact that the platform committee will be considering the planks.

The prohibition party recently had a convention at Madison and adopted a regular state platform at that time. Their meeting today will be perfunctory. There is no contest predicted in the convention of the social democrats.

La Follette For Bossard.
The La Follette forces at a meeting last night finally decided to present the name of State Senator Otto Bossard of La Crosse for state chairman of the Republican State central committee in opposition to Theodore Kronshage, Milwaukee, suggested by the McGovern forces. The result of this conference was announced at midnight.

The senator is at his farm home near Madison, and held several conferences with followers, among them Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Morris and Senator Owen, who are acting as his spokesmen in conveying his wishes to other followers not so fortunate as to be called for personal interviews.

McGovern and Senator Confer.
Senator La Follette and Gov. McGovern had a conference of an hour and a half in the senator's office on Monday afternoon. No one except the two knows what passed between them, as neither would discuss the meeting, but the information given above concerning the probable course of the convention tomorrow is an indication of what transpired.

When asked what would be the lines of the platform to be adopted the McGovern forces said: "The record, the state administration would be sufficient platform from our point of view."

Owing to the fact that the official

DINNER STORIES

Wichita lawyers are yet talking about the way Wallace B. Baker, who was found guilty in the district court of selling mortgaged property, showed his ignorance of married life. The prosecuting attorney was trying to show that Baker wasn't married. He asked Baker the following questions:

"Did you ever send your wife any dresses?"

"Yes, I sent her four dresses."

"What kind of dresses did you send her?"

"I sent her one good dress and three common ones."

"How much did you pay for the good dress, Mr. Baker?"

"Oh, I guess about $4.50."

The lawyers put Mr. Baker down then and there as an unmarriageable and a poor guesser.

Solemnly the clock struck eight. Mr. Smith jumped up from his chair. Mrs. Smith had been expected at 6 p. m., but had not returned. Feeling nervous, her husband rushed to the telephone and called up the police.

"What's her description?" asked the lieutenant.

"Er—er," stammered Mr. Smith, "about the average."

"What was she wearing?" came the query.

"Er—I think a coat and skirt, but a horrible draught."

count has not been completed in many counties, there is some doubt concerning several delegates who will sit in the convention. Where there is doubt of right to sit in consequence of official returns being lacking the convention will likely accept the delegates who put in an appearance.

To sidetrack indecisions.

It was said last night that if a resolution endorsing Taft is introduced, or one endorsing Roosevelt, the resolution will simply be referred to the proper committee, never to be heard of again. Gov. McGovern was in his office in the capital building until a late hour last night, but declined to say anything concerning the convention yesterday.

At the hotels there was a scarcity of Republicans but the morning trains brought in scores.

Senator Timothy Burke, Green Bay, has prepared resolutions endorsing President Taft's candidacy for re-election and the platform adopted at the Republican national convention, which he will present. It will be referred and buried, but Mr. Burke will endeavor to get a hearing on it.

The Socialist and Prohibition convention will be perfunctory, as both have adopted platforms in convention. Both include suffrage planks.

WISCONSIN HEN ADOPTS AND CARES FOR KITTENS

Has Mothered Them Since Their Birth—Mother Cat Is Alive But Kept at a Distance.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 16.—T. Y. Buchanan, a prominent and successful farmer of New Auburn, owns a remarkable hen. This hen has adopted and is mothering seven fine kittens all sleek and fat and healthy. The kittens which are now a month old, are not orphans as the mother cat is alive and well, but she has taken second place in the affections of her young.

The hen has mothered the kittens since their birth. She clucks for them and harbors them under her protective wings while the mother cat has to admire them at a distance. Her henship and the mother cat have had several battles for possession and affection of the kittens, the mother cat always coming out second best in the contest. The motherly instinct is said to be greater in the hen than that of the mother cat and the kittens seemingly prefer the companionship of the hen.

don't know the color. She had a dog with her.

"What kind of a dog?" asked the officer.

Back came the answer, pert and pat:

"Brindle bull terrier, four dark patches on body, shading from gray to white, round, blackish spot over left eye, with snub of a tail, three white legs, the white front one nicely brindled, small nick on his left ear—"

"That'll do," gasped the policeman.

"Well look for the dog."

But just then both Mrs. Smith and the dog turned up.

An especially enthusiastic lady tourist had kept up her Gatling fire of questions until she had thoroughly mastered the geography of the country. Then she ventured to ask the brakeman how he had lost his finger.

"Cut off in making a coupling between cars," he supposed.

"No, madame," he said, "I wore that finger off pointing out scenery to tourists."

A short time after the concert began a man arose and said: "Is there a Christian Scientist in the audience?"

Another man arose in his turn. "I am a Christian Scientist," said he. "Then sir," said the other addressing towards him, "I will ask you to change places with me, as my seat is in an abominable draught."

GIVES INSTRUCTIONS ON PERIODICAL LAW

Postmaster General Hitchcock Tells How New Enactment Will Effect Newspaper Through-

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—Postmaster General Hitchcock today issued instructions for carrying into effect the new newspaper and periodical law, first returning under which must be made by Oct. 1.

The law requires publishers to file on April and Oct. 1 of each year with the postmaster general and with the local postmaster, under penalty of denial of the use of the mails, a sworn statement of the names and addresses of the owner, publisher, editor, managing editor, and business manager of their newspapers and periodicals. Religious, fraternal, temperance, and scientific publications are excepted.

For a corporation the names of the holders of more than 1 per cent of the stocks, bonds, or other securities must be given, and, in the case of daily newspapers, a statement of the average paid circulation for the preceding six months is required.

Must Designate Paid Matter.

All editorial or other reading matter appearing in a newspaper or magazine for the publication of which pay is accepted or promised must be marked "Advertisement," and penalty of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500.

"Although the law was not favored by the postoffice department," said Postmaster General Hitchcock today, "it will be administered faithfully and impartially. In framing the act congress doubtless had in mind the leading newspapers, but it affects also nearly 18,000 weeklies. Many of these publications have a hard struggle for existence and will find the making of returns a considerable burden."

"In my judgment—and I so expressed it to congress—the provision will be harmful, as it will require the continuous use of valuable space in the publications, and at the same time be resented as a censorship of the press."

Cause of Many Complaints.

"One of the greatest difficulties now encountered in the enforcement of the law relating to the second class mail privilege is that the postoffice department is compelled by law to make inquiry into so many aspects of the private business of publishers. This gives rise to the complaint—ill founded, in my opinion—that the government interferes needlessly with the privileges of the press."

"My judgment is that it should be the constant aim, not only of the congress, but of the postoffice department, to lessen the necessity for supervision of the public press in the enactment and administration of postal laws."

Lake Level an International Problem. International Falls, Minn., Sept. 17.—The International Joint Commission on Waterways, composed of representatives of the United States and Canadian Governments, met here today for a hearing in connection with the question of the levels of the Lake of the Woods and tributary waters. The commission will determine whether it is desirable to fix the levels of the lake, which is on the international boundary. The decision will be of much importance, since it will affect the dams and other works in the Rainy River, which empties into the lake, and the Winnipeg River, which drains it.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

SUPERSENSITIVE FOLKS.

PEOPLE who are always suspecting other people of something or other are very hard to live with. Everyone knows that.

Not long ago a happy family in a boarding house was broken up by the presence of one of these unhappy creatures. One of the boarders left a silk waist, which she had washed, out on the line all night. In the morning it was gone. Naturally she announced the fact at the breakfast table, and in her indignation dwelt on the subject at some length. Whereupon one of the other women began to think that the owner suspected her of the theft.

At first she thought it, but very soon she knew it, and knew it with such fervor that she actually went to the hostess, told her the other woman had accused her of stealing her waist, and insisted that the hostess should ask the other woman to apologize. The final result was a feud which split the boarding house into hostile camps, and caused the hostess the loss of two perfectly good boarders.

Some years ago we had a maid whose chief fault was this tendency. You may think that was a minor fault, for an otherwise excellent maid, but it wasn't. She was always going about with a chip of suspicion on her shoulder and we all had to walk pussy-footed lest we knock it off. She was continually suspecting us of something or other, and she was always ready to jump on us at a moment's notice.

One of the queerest things about these folks is that they are ready to suspect even their dearest friends of suspecting them. I once mislaid a pair of silk stockings. I asked a dear friend who had been helping me straighten up the day I lost sight of them if she could possibly remember where I put them. And, yes, she actually thought I suspected her of taking them.

Do you know, I think such an attitude is an insult. You wouldn't suspect your friend of stealing, would you? Then why impute such base suspicions to him?

I wonder if such people think they are abiding by the rule of "do as you'd be done by." It doesn't seem to me that they are.

"What on earth are you doing?" said the Average Girl. "Making cucumber pickle?"

The Woman of Thirty looked up from the succulent green vegetable she was slicing into a graniteware saucepan.

"Kitchen cosmetics," she said. "Never heard of it. Is it a new kind of soup flavoring like kitchen bouquet?"

"No, Miss Ignorance. Kitchen cosmetics are beauty lotions that you can make in your own kitchen. You interrupt me in the process of preparing cucumber lotion. It's good for all the ills that flesh—or rather the complexion—is heir to. It softens and whitens the skin, it soothes and dries up eruptions and, best of all, it prevents wrinkles."

"Take a cucumber that is just beginning to turn yellow, like the one I am cutting up, and slice it into small pieces, skin and all. Then put these into a pan and pound them with a wooden potato masher until the mass is a watery pulp. Now filter through a piece of cheesecloth, squeezing out as much juice as you can."

"Next proceed to put the refuse of

The KITCHEN CABINET

NEVER bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three—all they have now, all they ever had, and all they expect to have.

COMPANY DISHES.

What a feeling of security it gives a housekeeper to have in her store room, pantry or cake box some of the needed accessories for a meal. She is a more gracious hostess and one which it is a delight to visit. Behind the forced smile of welcome, how many a heart has sunk because there was nothing in the house to offer a friend.

Just have a few things that are kept for emergencies, and if used are quickly supplied. One does not like to offer boughten cakes or cookies to guests, as the recipes which we consider so choice and of which we are justly proud, make such delightful things at much less cost.

A small cake which can be put into the store room in a jar and covered to keep from drying will keep for months, and be sure your friends will always ask for it. The recipe is:

Fruit Cake.—Seed and cut in quarters a pound of dates, add a cup of coconut or other nuts as desired; two cups of flour, a cup of shortening, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a grating of nutmeg, a teaspoonful each of vanilla and lemon, less of lemon if it is not agreeable, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in half a cup of boiling water, a cup and a half of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and three well beaten eggs. Add the soda and water the very last. Bake in gem pans, a tablespoonful in each. This recipe makes about thirty small cakes, which will keep and grow better with age.

There is something uncommonly appetizing about sardines used in sandwiches. One may always have a few boxes of these on hand for a quick lunch. Pimento cheese, with saltines and coffee, is a dessert which will be enjoyed. A cup of dry cheese grated and mixed with a little tabasco sauce or cream, red pepper and onion juice or other seasonings, will keep, if covered with a cloth dampened with vinegar. The delicious sauces which may be added to ice creams and make them so much more elegant may be put up in fruit season, and will always be ready when needed.

Salmon mixed with coconut and a few chopped pickles, moistened with a small amount of salad dressing, served on lettuce, makes a very nice salad, and not a common one.

A few cooked peas left from dinner, if washed from the sauce in which they were served, added to a slice or two of tomato, a bit of chopped onion and a lettuce leaf makes another salad good enough to set before company.

"Where do you learn all these things?" "I found a good many of them in an ancient book that I came across. In old times every house, almost, had its 'still room,' where the mistress prepared with her own fair hands all her toilet lotions and creams, and they were made of such things as she could easily get. My own grandmother when she was young used to make a beautiful pink tinted powder from beets and carrots and a little cornstarch."

"She took three very ripe yellow carrots and three beets and scraped them into a bowl and then put this pulp in a bag and squeezed out all the juice and added to the remainder one and one-half ounces of cornstarch and put it in the sun to dry."

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

by Henrietta D. Grauel

In the fall a woman's fancy quickly turns to thoughts of cleaning. The lovely sunshine, limpid and golden, makes her think of mists; the soft gray haze of early morning, of cozy fires; the interesting preparations of the bird neighbors for their yearly flight reminds her that the parlor curtains must be washed and the turning leaves suggest turning the dining room rug end for end and putting the china closet where the sideboard now stands.

Instead of staying out of doors until the last possible moment watching the countless miracles nature is performing before her very eyes she ties her head up in a bandana, puts on the oldest apron she owns and helps Dinah carry out all the rugs to hang on the line so the neighbors can see how many she has. Then she takes out all the windows so the passers-by can see she is cleaning house.

She always takes cold in house-cleaning time; this season the weather is so perfect it seems as though she might not, so just to make sure she will wash the doors inside and out, and then while warm and perspiring she stands in the draught of the window while she washes the window frames.

She knows that a little kerosene in the water will cut the dirt and save her hands and time but she has forgotten it and won't take time to look it up.

For fifty cents extra on the week Dinah would do all the heavy lifting, but a strained back is so interesting and makes the family more sympathetic and gives an excuse for scolding the children and sending them to the neighbors to play. The neighbor don't clean house she keeps her house clean and so she has time to look after other folk's children.

And when it's all done she decides the upstairs back bedroom will just have to be papered and then it must all be done over again.

This state of affairs has been in evidence every spring and fall since Noah moved out of his ark; it takes all summer to get rested enough to go through the same performance in order to be ready for winter.

It makes no difference that the man grumbles about it, they all always do. They can't understand why a house must be cleaned; just tell them to eat down town until it's over, she can't stop to cook dinner; the rest of the family can do with a cold lunch if she can, and even if she does get sick before she is through it will be a great comfort to think of the work she has accomplished, and of her duty well done, and while she is recuperating she takes her pen in hand to write to the editor for advice on how to go on when she is better.

Our advice is "DON'T!" House-cleaning went out of fashion long ago. The woman who inconveniences herself and family by turning her house upside down and wrong side out in a scurry after real or imaginary dirt is either stupid or contrary.

If she is the first there is hope for her; she may be taught that it is easiest to "pick up as you go," to be self-possessed and mistress of herself though China fall and that those who accomplish most in housekeeping and in every other walk of life are the quiet workers.

Cleanliness is healthful and sweet, and a well-kept home a thing of joy to the whole family, but many a woman can look back with regret to days when she rushed through her house like a hurricane upsetting it and settling it again in the shortest possible space of time for no reason in the world except to show off her prowess.

Only broken nerves remain from such onslaughts of strength; women have not too much vitality, but they do have to a great extent, control of their greatest blessing, health. But they cannot keep it if they rush through their work like a train of cars, worrying and fretting over little things. For then the mind contracts to the measure of its thoughts and a breakdown results.

Heart and Home Problems

by MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a boy of 16 and troubled with pain in my back. It troubles me whenever I bend down. What can I do to stop sweating, even in a cool place? I am very nervous. How can I stop it? What can I do to stop dreaming all night?

I have two corns; how can I cure them? What should I use to keep my teeth clean? JOHN R.

I am afraid you are not very well, my boy, and must advise you to consult a doctor for the pain and the nervousness. If these are cured, the profuse sweating and bad dreams will stop.

For the corn, try this: Pare corn off as close as possible. Then put a pinch of baking soda on a clean bit of cloth, moisten soda a little with vinegar, apply to corn and wrap cloth about toe or foot. Do this night and morning. If you will keep it up you will find yourself minus your corns in about ten days.

Brush your teeth with fine table salt. Once in a while use a little powdered charcoal.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) Are tan shoes going to wear this fall? (2) We are two girls, 13 and 14. Are we old enough for high heels? (3) We are about to start a club, the girls ranking from 11 to 14. What would be a suitable name having three letters in it? (4) What could be a nice luncheon to serve? (5) My hair is short and curly. Please advise me how to wear it. (6) How can my chum, who is 13, wear her hair. It is long and straight. (7) Is my writing good?

BLUE EYES AND BROWN EYES.

(1) Yes. (2) Your backs will be straighter and you will walk more gracefully and feel better, if you do not wear high heels. Wait until you get your growth before putting them on, my dears. (3) Take a vote on the name. Have each girl come to a meeting with her suggestion for a name written on a slip of paper and folded up so nobody can see it. Have all the slips dropped into a man's hat, or anything handy; then blindfold the youngest girl and have her pick out one of the slips. Whatever is on that slip make the name of your club. (4) Have a fruit punch. Make several kinds of sandwiches—sliced chicken, minced ham and eggs, and crushed raisin are nice. Girls always like cake, so have two or three kinds of nice cake. Have salted nuts, any seasonable fruit, and candies, if you like. (5) You are young enough to let your hair hang, with just a big ribbon bow tied at one side or on top. (6) Put it in two braids and wind about her head. (7) Yes. Dear Mrs. Thompson—When I clean my white shoes the polish gets on the heels. How can I remove it? BLUE EYES. You can wipe it off with a wet cloth directly after it is applied.

In Praise of Frugality. "Men know not how great a revenue frugality is."—Cicero.

The Task of Getting Dressed

ELLE lay in bed and thought about getting dressed. "Three rats," she said to herself, "and then wave my hair and put it carefully over them. Then a braid to be pinned on. It'll take three-quarters of an hour."

"Those pumps of mine are fearfully uncomfortable and I'd as lief walk on stilts as those heels." She sighed. "And it takes so long to get it laced right."

"And I've got to put in fresh sleeve frills and a neck frill. And they've got to be sewed, too. Flushing's no good."

"And that's only for breakfast. At eleven I've got to start for Dorothy's for that luncheon."

"That means do my hair over again. Those rats will be sure to be showing by that time and my braid would probably be over one ear."

"And oh, dear! I'm going to wear that new suit and the blouse that goes with it is the very dickens to fix."

"And I'll have to wear my black buck pumps and those new gloves."

She groaned. "New gloves are awful to put on. And that big black hat of mine feels as if it's pulling every last hair out of my head by the time I get it anchored."

"Then to-night, there's that dance at the club." And do my hair all over entirely and fix it up with that Greek bandeau. That's a job."

"And I've got to wear that lingerie gown, and that means run about four miles of ribbon in things. And it's more gloves and more tight shoes and getting that sash just right. I wonder where my fan is?"

"And when I come home, it's brush my hair and massage some more, or tomorrow morning I'll look as if I have been through a knot hole. I really ought to massage my scalp, too, or I won't have a single hair of my own left."

She lay there thinking of the day's tasks in the way of dressing. And the longer she thought, the more she sighed, and the more despondent she grew. At last she rose, threw a negligee over her night dress and poked her head out the door.

"Bessie!" she called. "Bessie!"

A small girl came running from the next room. "Tell mother I'm not feeling very well," she said to the child, "and I'm not going to get up to-day. And ask her please to 'phone Dorothy I won't be there for luncheon and then to call Jack and say I shall not go to the dance to-night."

Then she went back with a sigh of ecstasy and slipped into bed. "Clothes," she commented, "are too much of a handicap. I'd rather never go anywhere than tog out the way one is supposed to nowadays."

HANDS CRACKING AND BLEEDING

With Eczema, Watery Blisters, Disfigured and Sore, Could Not Put Them in Water, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

St. Clair, Mo.—"My trouble began about fifteen years ago. It was what some called eczema. The form the disease worked under was a breaking out with watery blisters on my hands which would then dry and scale, and then would follow the trouble of cracking and bleeding, also itching and burning. My hands were disfigured at the time, and sore. The trouble was very annoying, and disturbed my sleep. This last February it was ever so much worse than before. I did not do all my work on account of the condition of my hands. I could not put them in water without making them worse. I tried a lot of home remedies, also salves and ointments that claimed to be a cure for the trouble, but I did not obtain a cure.

"At last I saw the advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample. I thought they would cure, so I sent for a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and some Cuticura Soap. A doctor advised me to keep ahead with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they cured me completely. No trace of the trouble remains." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mar. 22, 1912.

Sleep Disturbing Bladder Weakness, Pains Disappear After Fe
While people along in years are naturally more subject to weak kidneys, they can avoid the tortures of backache, and rheumatism, and be saved the annoyance of getting up at night with disagreeable bladder disorders, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly cures the most severe and obstinate cases.

Croxone quickly and permanently cures these conditions because it removes the cause. It is the most wonderful remedy ever devised for ridding the system of uric acid. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. Pills, tablets, and other medicines merely stimulate the kidneys, occasionally giving temporary relief. Croxone makes the kidneys filter the blood and sift out all the poisonous acids and waste matter that cause these troubles. It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped-up inactive kidneys like water does a sponge, dissolves, and

The next meeting of the Rock County Ministerial Association will be held in this city on Monday, Sept. 30 at which time a program will be given and the matter of home mission work for the following three months will be taken up in detail. Rev. J. W. Laughlin, secretary of the association, is preparing a campaign in the county on the home mission question in response to an appeal sent out by the combined boards of home missions at New York City. Some thirty boards representing practically all the Protestant denominations have combined for a special effort in their work during the months of September, October and November, and ministers all over the county are being enlisted in the work.

It is Dr. Laughlin's plan to have the various ministers in the county contribute short articles to the county newspapers during the coming weeks in order to interest the people in the home mission work. With this end in view he is writing to the various pastors who belong to the association outlining his plan which will be more fully discussed at the coming meeting.

An interesting program has been arranged with the following speakers and topics:

HOME DRESSMAKING.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

HOME dressmaking is a form of domestic economy which women resort to when they want to save up the price of a new set of furs. It is a nervous occupation and requires great muscular ability on the part of the patient.

The chief requirements for this kind of dressmaking are a bolt of blue gingham, a reservoir of hope and a set of surveying tools. With these ingredients a dress can be made that will last a long time, as it is seldom worn after the first offense.

The greatest aid to home dressmaking is the wire form, a device with movable ribs and adjustable shoulder blades which a woman can stick pins into without drawing blood. The beauty of this invention is that it never stands on one leg and makes a new skirt hang like a gunny sack on a vinegar barrel, as is so often the case with the human model.

With the aid of one of these forms and a tape line a woman can see just how she looks when she loses her head. She can also prevent calling in one of the neighbors with a 48-inch waist measure, who is willing to pose in a lopsided attitude while exchanging unbiased opinions about somebody who is not present.

One of the most picturesque sights we know of is to see an agile housewife with a determined nature and a mouthful of pins, circling rapidly around some helpless victim and jabbing her full of pleats, tucks and pinholes.

One of the penalties of home dressmaking is that the husband has to prepare a new and flowery rhapsody over every dress, before the basting threads are ejected. In all other respects, however, it is one of the most beneficial forms of human endeavor.

BEST MEDIUM FOR SMALL ADVERTISER

Otto Bruck Declares Daily Newspapers Will Secure For Them The Best Possible Results.

That the daily newspaper is the best possible advertising medium for the small advertiser, and that the advertiser must use more care in getting up his advertisements for small space, were the declarations made by Otto S. Bruck in an illustrated talk to the Dallas Ad League at the regular meeting last week. Fifty-five members of the league were present and Mr. Bruck's talk received much applause.

"It is the small advertiser who is supporting fake advertising schemes and losing money every day, simply because the average small advertiser does not take the time to analyze propositions put up to them by a glib-tongued solicitor. The question is will the average 'scheme' bring results? Can the same amount of money, if expended in some other medium, bring better results? What class of people can be reached? How many people, if any, will see the ad in the special scheme? They simply fail for the takes, because they are; seemingly cheap in price, perhaps a dollar or so, but in the long run the small advertisers are separated from a lot of money and then they cry that advertising does not pay. They have never really advertised—only supported a lot of grafters.

"Small advertisers should use the newspapers as their basic mediums. The newspaper goes into all classes of homes and it is looked for every day. It is cheaper, for the newspaper has a distribution which makes it reach the people.

Copy is Vital Point.
"Small advertisers pay too little attention to copy, which is the vital point of any advertisement. A majority of the small advertisers use signboard copy in their small newspaper ads, when that is the very space where they have opportunity to give a regular sales talk, just as if their customers were in the stores. Think more of what you are going to say in your ads and less about the cost of them, and the results will surprise you.

"Many advertisers of this character are not regular enough. One knock with a hammer never drives the nail home. It takes three or four steady blows for each nail, and it is the same way with advertising. Keep up the lick.

"Some small advertisers very unwisely expend all their money in one method of advertising. A merchant who will spend every cent for painted displays and nothing on newspaper advertising is a fit subject for the bankruptcy court. If you use painted displays, figure how many people will pass these signs and realize how limited are your facilities for advertising the prices of the articles you sell. If you can stand the pressure, get on the signboards; too but if you can use your money to greater advantage and tell more people about your goods and get your prices before the public, don't you think it would be foolish for you to use just one method of advertising, such as signboards. Small advertisers should think more about their advertising and ask the advice of real advertising men, not fakirs."

BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS.

Constipated, Bilious, Headachy, Stomach Sour, Get a 10 cent Box of Cascarets—Take one Tonight

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy disordered stomach, or have back-ache and feel worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver; and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

Doubters never achieved anything in this world. If you don't believe us we won't believe in you. The world needs you at your best. "It was at this stage of my career that I met the lady who became my wife. We lived at the same boarding-house—Mrs. Heeneys, a most elegant, well-kept place, and Mrs. Heeneys a lovely woman of one of the best southern families. It was at her table that I met the girl who was destined to have such a fatal influence on my life. She was a stenographer and typewriter in one of the largest firms in the city, earning her twenty dollars a week, as she was an expert and not to be beaten in the state. She was very pretty, the brunette type of beauty, black-eyed, and as smart as a steel trap. She was as dainty as a pink, always well-dressed and up-to-date, and never anything sloppy or slouchy about her. Ask her to go to the theater and there wouldn't be a woman in the house who could beat her for looks and style. Besides that, she was a fine conversationalist, could talk as easily as a book on any subject. If I brought her a novel, she'd read it and have the whole plot at her finger-tips, and be able to talk it all over, have her own opinions about every character. Oh, she was an accomplished, fascinating woman, if I say it myself! Any man might have taken to her. She was for ever telling me about California, and how she wanted to get back there—"

"California?" interrupted Dominick. "Did she come from California?"

"From here—from San Francisco. She was a native daughter of the state and the town. I was interested in California myself at that time, though I'd never seen it, and we'd talk of that and other things till, bit by bit, we drifted nearer and nearer together and the day came when we were engaged. I thought that was the happiest day of my life, and it would have been if she'd stayed true to her promises."

"The clock struck the single silver note of the half-hour and Dominick heard it. He was interested in the story, but he had only another half-hour to give, and said as Buford paused:

"Go on. It's very interesting. Don't stop."

"The first step in our married life that seemed to me strange, that cast, not what you'd call a cloud, but a shadow, over my happiness, was that she insisted on keeping the marriage secret. She had several reasons, all of which seemed good and sufficient to her. She said her people would not like her marrying a stranger far away from home, and that they'd cut up very ugly when they heard it. Her principal reason, and the only one that seemed to me to have any force, was that she feared she'd lose her job. She had it on good authority that the firm where she worked wouldn't employ married women, and if they knew she'd got a husband who was making a fair salary, they'd give her the sack. Whether it was for all the reasons together, or for just this one I don't know, but she'd only marry me if I solemnly promised to keep the matter secret. I'd have promised her anything. She'd out and out bewitched me."

was a happy time—a man in love and a woman that keeps him loving—you can't beat it this side of Heaven."

Dominick made no answer. The actor for a moment was silent and then with a sigh went on:

"I suppose it was too good to last."

"Then the Woman You Saw Here Last Night Was Your Wife?"

Anyway, it ended. We'd lived that way for six months when in the beginning of June the Dramatic School failed and I lost my job. It came on us with almost no warning, and it sort of knocked us out for a bit. I wasn't as upset by it as Mrs. Carter was, but she—

"Who's Mrs. Carter?" said Dominick.

"My wife. That's my name, Junius Carter. Of course the name I use on the stage is not my own. I took that in the Klondike, made it up from my mother's and the name of a part I had who died. Well, as I was saying, Mrs. Carter took it hard. She couldn't seem to get reconciled to it. I tried to brace her up and told her it would only be temporary, and I'd get another place soon, but she was terribly upset. We'd lived well, not saved a cent, furnished the flat nicely and kept a servant. There was nothing for it but to live on what she made. It was hard on her, but I've often thought she might have been easier on me. I didn't want to be idle or eat the bread she paid for. Lord knows! I tried hard enough to get work. I tramped those streets in sun and rain till the shoes were falling off my feet. But the times were hard, money was tight, and good jobs were not to be had for the asking. One of the worst features of the case was that I hadn't any regular line of work or profession. The kind of thing I'd been doing didn't fit a man for any kind of job. If I couldn't do my own kind of stunt I'd have to be just a general handy-man or stevedore, and I'm not what you'd call rugged."

"It was an awful summer! The heat was fierce. Our little flat was like an oven and, after my long day's tramp after work, I used to go home, just dead beat and lie on the lounge and not say a word. My wife was worn out. She wasn't accustomed to warm weather, and that and the worry and the hard work sort of wore on her, and these were evenings when she'd slash round so with her tongue that I'd get up, half dead as I was, and go out and sit on the door-step till she'd gone to bed. I'm not blaming her. She had enough to try her. Working at her machine all day in that weather would wear anybody's temper to a frazzle. But she said some things to me that bit pretty deep. It seemed impossible it could be the same woman I'd got to know as well as Mrs. Heeneys. We were both just about used up, thin as fiddle-strings, and like fiddle-strings ready to snap at a touch. Seems queer to think that thirty-five dollars a week could make such a difference! With it we were in Paradise; without it we were as near the other place as people can get, I guess."

"Well, it was too much for her. She was one of those women who can't stand hardships and she couldn't make out in the position she was in. Love wasn't enough for her, there had to be luxury and comfort, too. One day I came home and she was gone. No. In answer to a look of inquiry on Dominick's face, there was no other man. She wasn't that kind, always as straight as a string. No, she just couldn't stand the grind any longer. She left a letter in which she said some pretty hard things to me, but I've tried to forget and not bear malice. It was a woman half crazy with heat and nerves and overwork that wrote them. The gist of it was that she'd gone back to California, to her sisters who lived there, and she was not coming back. She didn't like it—marriage, or me, or Chicago. She was just going to throw the whole business overboard. She told me if I followed her, or tried to hold her, she'd disappear, hinted that she'd kill herself. That was enough for me. God knows if she didn't want me I wasn't going to force myself upon her. And, anyway, she knew fast enough I couldn't follow her. I hadn't money to have my shoes patched, much less buy a ticket to California."

"After that there were some dark days for me. Deserted, with no money, with no work, and no prospects—I tell you that's the time the iron goes down into a man's soul. I didn't know what was going to become of me, and I didn't care. One day on the street I met an old chum of mine, a fellow called Defay, that I hadn't seen for years. He was going to the Klondike, and when he heard my hard-luck story, he proposed to me to join forces and go along with him. I jumped at it, anything to get away from that town and state that was haunted with memories of her."

"It was just the beginning of the gold rush and we went up there and stayed for two years. Defay was one of the finest men I ever knew. Life's all extremes and contrasts; there's a sort of balance to it if you come to look close into it. I'd had an experience with the kind of a woman that breaks a man's heart as you might a pipe-stem, then I ran up against the kind of man that gives you back your belief in human nature. He died of typhoid a year and a half after we got there. I had it first and nearly died; in fact, the rumor went out that it was I that was dead and not Defay. As I changed my name and went on the stage soon afterward it was natural enough for people to say Junius Carter was dead."

"I was pretty near starving when I drifted on the stage. I had learned some conjuring tricks, and that and my voice took me there. I just about made a living for a year, and then I floated back down here. I never played in San Francisco till now. I acted on the western circuits, used to go as far East as Denver and Kansas City, and then swing round and the circle through the northwestern cities and Salt Lake. I managed to make a living and no more. I was cast in parts that didn't suit me. The Klondike Monologue was the first thing I did that was in my line."

"Did you never see or hear of your wife?"

"Not a word. I didn't know whether she was dead or living till last night."

Buford raised his eyes and looked piercingly into the young man's face. Dominick forgot the time, his engagement, Berny's anticipated entrance. He drew himself up in his chair and said in a loud, astonished voice:

"Last night? Then the woman you saw here last night was your wife?"

The actor gravely inclined his head.

"I saw my wife," he said solemnly, "last night at Daleda's restaurant. It was entirely by accident. I liked the Mexican cooking and had been more than once to that place. Last night I was about to enter the back part of the restaurant when I saw her sitting there alone in the corner. For a moment I could not believe my eyes. I got behind a lace curtain and watched her. She was changed, but it was she. I heard her speak to the waiter and if I'd never seen her face I'd have known the voice among a thousand. She'd grown stouter and I think even prettier, and she looked as if she were prosperous. She was well dressed and her hands were covered with rings. When she went out I followed her and she came straight here from the restaurant and rang the bell and came in."

"Are you sure she didn't go into one of the other flats? There are four in the building."

"No, she came in here. I compared the number on the transom with the address you'd given me on the card!"

"What an extraordinary thing!" said Dominick. "It's evidently some one my wife knows who came to see her that evening, probably to keep her company while I was out. But I can't think who it could be."

He tried to run over in his mind which one of Berny's acquaintances the description might fit and could think of no one. Probably it was some friend of her working-girl days, who had dropped out of her life and now, guided by Fate, had unexpectedly reappeared.

"It's certainly a remarkable coincidence," he went on, "that she should have come to this flat, one of the few places in the city where you know the people. If she'd gone to any of the others—"

A ring at the bell stopped him. "There!" he said, "that's Mrs. Ryan. Now we'll hear who it was."

For a moment they both sat silent, listening, the actor with his face looking sharp and pale in the suspense of the moment, the muscles of his lean cheeks working. The rustle of Berny's dress sounded from the stairway and grew in volume as she slowly ascended. The two men rose to their feet.

"Come in the den for a moment, Berny," Dominick called. "There's a gentleman here who wants to see you."

The rustle advanced up the hall, and the portiere was drawn back. Bernice, brilliantly dressed, a mauve orchid pinned on her bosom, stood in the aperture, smiling.

Recovered From Severe Lung Trouble

While we all know that plenty of fresh air and good food are necessary to persons suffering from lung trouble, something more is needed to bring about full health. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, and so many reports have been received showing that it brought about good results in a number of cases which were declared hopeless, that all sufferers who are not benefiting otherwise, should, at least investigate what it has done for others. It may be the means of restoring you to health. Investigate this case.

Madison Lake, Minn. "Gentlemen: In December, 1908, and March, 1909, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs, which confined me several weeks each time to my bed. These left me very weak and I coughed at nights and could not sleep. My appetite also failed me. My doctor advised me to go West. So, in September, 1909, I planned to go, but I had four more hemorrhages, which put me in bed more hemorrhages. In November I started for Denver, Col. After my arrival, I met Michael Brody, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Eckman's Alternative. In I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. In March, 1910, I returned home. I think I am entirely well, I have good appetite and sleep well. I left Denver my weight was 130 pounds. I now weigh 165, my normal weight. I thank God and Dr. Alternative for my health. If I can help any other person suffering from Tuberculosis, I will gladly do so."

W. A. Smith, Bridgeton, Ind., is telling his friends and neighbors of his return to health and strength by the use of Foley Kidney Pills, and he says he wants others to benefit also. "I was so crippled with rheumatism I could not dress without help, and had kidney trouble for years. I started using Foley Kidney Pills and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well all night and though 59 years old, can now do the work of a man of 35 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills."—Badger

Bird's Nest in Human Skull.
A bird has built its nest in a human skull lying in a vault beneath a church at Rothwell, Northamptonshire, England. Apparently the bird entered the vault through the ventilator and after selecting the largest cranium among the rows of skulls on the shelves proceeded to enlarge a hole, which had probably been made originally by a batteaux.—New York Sun.

Remedies for Dyspepsia.
Summing up his experiences with 425 cases of dyspepsia, an English physician said that benefit had resulted most frequently from one of two kinds of medicine—namely, alkali and a curminative, such as ginger, an hour or an hour and a half after a meal, or when the discomfort came on, or bismuth carbonate, in doses of half a dram or more before meals.
